Opening Prayer. Megan Pryor Lorentz led the Guild in St. Ignatius of Loyola's Prayer for Generosity.

Welcome by Cathleen Rigatti, Ignatian Guild President. Cathleen Rigatti welcomed all members and introduced this month's theme: "Teach Me to be Generous." In the spirit of Lent, this is a fitting theme, acknowledging the good work that we each do.

Special Guest:

Staci Fleming | 2017 Ignatian Guild President and Associate Director of Advancement. Staci Flemming thanked all the parents for their hard work supporting the school and announced the great achievements of our parent groups including that fact that in 53 years, this year's Fashion Show was the fastest to sell out tickets, and, secured more underwriting than ever before! Also, the Auction generated 1.6M and counting! For fun and easy ways to contribute to our Jesuit mission, participate thru Amazon Smile and Matching Gifts. Amazon Smile: www.smile.amazon.com | Matching Gifts: www.siprep.org/giving/how-to-give-/matching-gifts or for questions: giftmatch@siprep.org.

The Synod | Megan Pryor Lorentz, Religious Studies. To give and not to count the cost. Pope Francis is all about Synods. The more we can look at each other eye to eye and talk to each other, the better off we are. This synod is to focus on voices that are not heard (people who don't go to church). Focus on three things: 1) communion (connecting with each other and being one together); 2) what would get you to church and why (for those that are baptized; Christians in general; those you are baptized but do not practice a traditional faith); and 3) Mission (where are we going and what are we called to do. Creativity of the gospel and not a defensive Catholicism). Email: mpryorlorentz@siprep.org for more information.

Then, we'll have an upholstery party with pre-cut fabric, tools, and refreshments. Tools will be supplied and you'll be guided at each step. No sewing nor upholstery experience necessary, but by the time you finish, you'll know how to update your own dining room chairs. If you are interested in helping, please email the Director of the Library, Christina Wenger at cwenger@siprep.org.
